TO SEE HER DEAD LOVER.

English Girl Released by Immigration Officers.

CAME OVER TO BE MARRIED

Ambrose Good, Her Sweetheart, Was Killed in the B. & O. Wreck While Going to Meet Her.

SHE ATTENDED THE FUNERAL

NEW YORK, December 28.—Miss Lillian Bennett, the English girl who arrived here only to learn that Ambrose Good, to whom she was to have been married on arrival, had been killed in the wreck of the Duquesne limited, was released Saturday by the Ellis Island authorities. George Good, brother of the dead man, became sponsor for her, and the pair left for McKeesport, Pa., where the girl attended the funeral of her sweetheart.

The girl had put on a new dress and prepared herself to meet her sweetheart just before the Cedric, on which she crossed the ocean, reached port. When the ship's officers told her the news she fainted.

Miss Bennett is a pretty young English woman, 23 years old. Mrs. Mary Jane Heath came from the same village in England with Miss Bennett, and they shared together one of the best rooms in the steerage section of the ship. Their room was known as the "bridal chamber" among the passengers, for the Cedric had not been long out to sea before most all the passengers knew Miss Bennett's story and became interested in her.

The Cedric was a day late in getting into her dock. Miss Bennett had worried over this fact, because she was afraid it would interfere with the arrangements which Good had made for their wedding.

The funeral of Good has been postponed to allow the girl to have a last look at the face of her sweetheart.

AT BIER OF DEAD SWEETHEART

MCKEESPORT, December 28.—After a journey of nearly 4,000 miles which was to have had its termination at the nuptial altar, Miss Lillian Bennett, of of Wednesburg, England, Sunday stood in the presence of the remains of her betrothed, Ambrose Good, who was killed in the wreck of the Duquense disaster last Wednesday evening. The scene in the little darkened parlor of the home of Thomas R. Good, a brother of Ambrose, was pathetic.

Just across the street from the home of Thomas Good stands the cottage which Miss Bennett's intended husband had purchased and furnished for her.

Today which was to have been the last before the wedding, will witness the funeral.

Miss Bennett is profuse in her gratitude for the kindness of the Ellis Island officials and others, but refutes the statements that she is without friends. She says she will likely remain in America.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crider have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss May Sullivan Crider to Mr. Charles E. Dorworth.

Miss Crider is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Crider and is a bright and attractive young lady.

The groom-to-be is the eldest son of Doctor and Mrs. E. S. Dorworth of this city. He was at one time editor of the Daily News but for several years has been doing newspaper work in Philadelphia and Pittsburg. He is now political writer on the Philadelphia Press and is one of the brightest newspaper men in the state and is rapidly rising to the top in his chosen profession.

The wedding will take place in the near future and a host of friends will wish them joy and happiness.

Plans for Steel Plant.

Officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company have under consideration a project for the erection of a plant for the manufacture of structural steel in Altoona, near an immense foundry now building. The plant, it is said, will be an extensive concern, completely equipped, and employ fully 2000 men. At this works it is declared to be the intention to manufacture the structural steel for the river tunnels in New York. This undertaking alone will keep the plant engaged for several years. Afterwards steel rails and structural steel work for bridges and buildings will be done.

AN INTERESTING SPEAKER.

Prominent Episcopal Missionary to Visit Bellefonte.

An interesting clergyman will preach in St. John's Episcopal church next Sunday morning and evening. He belongs to the society of St. John the Evangelist and is commonly known as Father Convers. He is associated with the well known "Cowley" Fathers of England.

Father Convers has been a missionary in India and the Philippine Islands and has had Parochial work in England and Boston and has had charge for a little while of the church at Montoursville, near Williamsport, where he went to recuperate from his arduos labor in the Philippines.

On Wednesday morning of next week at 10 o'clock he will preach in St. John's church on "The Feast of the Epiphany." He will also give a missionary address at a meeting of the Womans Auxillary to be held at the residence of Mrs. W. F. Reynolds next Monday evening.

Father Convers is one of the most interesting clergyman that has visited Bellefonte for some time and should be greeted by a large attendance at each of his public appearances.

Y. M. C. A. PLANS.

Hope to Erect a New Office Building Where The Blanchard's Office Now Stands.

The Y. M. C. A., of Bellefonte have a new scheme on hand which has met with the approval of some of the most prominent business men of the town to whom the plans which are as follows have been submitted.

The office on High street occupied by John Blanchard, Esq., must be repaired at considerable expense and the idea now is to tear it all down and erect a two story brick building, having a suit of three offices on both floors. These offices will contain a vault, closets and washstand together with all other conveniences. Mr. Blanchard will take the rooms on the second floor, thus leaving the rooms on the first floor to be rented to some enterprising physician, dentist, lawyer or insurance agent. It is an excellent location and the project will go through if the lower rooms can be rented. Inquire of Secretary Hindman.

Miller—Hainley.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Hainley at Altoona was given over to seventy-five friends and relatives Wednesday evening Dec. 23, to witness the marriage of their daughter, Miss Grace Hainley, to Mr. Levi Miller, of Linden Hall, Centre county. It was a pretty affair and the house was prettily decorated for the occasion. The happy couple attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hainley and little Misses Grace and Jennie Miller, as flower girls, entered the parlor to a wedding march rendered by Miss Pearl Ott. They were met by Rev. George Murray Klepfer, pastor of the Eighth avenue Methodist Episcopal church, who united them with the impressive ring ceremony. After congratulations had been extended a luncheon was served. The groom is a cabinet maker in the employ of the Pennsylvania Railroad company while the bride is a very estimable young lady.

They will spend the holidays at Linden Hall but will reside in Altoona.

Republican Conventions.

There have been three Republican national conventions in Philadelphia, five in Chicago, and one each in Baltimore, Cincinnati, Minneapolis, and St. Louis. Southern cities have generally been disregarded by the Republicans for political reasons, and San Francisco for reasons of travel. New York has decidedly too many other and greater counter-attractions for visiting statesmen. Pittsburg, where the first "recognized Republican" convention was held in 1855; Cleveland, the residence of the chairman of the Republican national committee, and Detroit, a city well suited for convention gatherings, have not been favorably considered.

NOTICE.

Ticket holders of Star Course Mr. J. S. Arnold who had charge of the Star Course to be given this season in Petrikin Hall, writes, owing to sickness he has been unable to come to Bellefonte but expects to do so very shortly and money due ticket holders will be refunded. Due notice of time and place will be given through the papers and on board at the Hall. Papers please copy.

A RECORD OF DEATHS!

Centre Countians Who Have Been Called to The Evergreen Shore.

LOVED ONES WHO WILL BE MISSED

Mrs. Rosanna Shortlidge, Sarah Ellen McLaughlin, May E. Aikey, John D. Wagner and Edward Pidgeon Among the Number.

OBITUARY NOTICES OF DEPARTED.

Mrs. Rosanna McCalmont Shortlidge, widow of the late William Shortlidge, died Saturday afternoon at about ten minutes of one o'clock at the home of her sister; Miss Jane McCalmont on North Thomas street. Mrs. Shortlidge resided on South Thomas street but about six weeks ago while visiting her sister Miss McCalmont and daughter, Mrs. John S. Walker, she was suddenly taken ill and her condition was so serious that she could not be removed to her home. She suffered from a complication of disease and her life was despaired of from the first. Everything that loving hands and medical skill could do was done for her but of no avail as she gradually grew weaker until the end came as above stated.

The deceased whose maiden name was Rosanna G. McCalmont, was a member of one of the oldest and most influential families in the county, she being a daughter of James A. McCalmont. She was born at Jacksonville in Marion township, March 16, 1833. On May 25, 1857 she was united in marriage to William Shortlidge, who preceded her to the grave several years ago. Her husband was a prominent lime manufacturer and coal dealer and one of the towns leading and most progressive citizens.

Mrs. Shortlidge was a member of the Presbyterian church here and was greatly interested in church work. She was of a lovable and kindly disposition and was a christian lady in the highest sense of the word. Her loss to her family, her church and her many friends will be greatly felt.

She was the mother of six children, four of who n are dead and two living. The surviving children are Martha Elizabeth, wife, of John S. Walker and Anna W., both of this city. She is also survived by her brother, James, of State College, and her sister, Miss Jane McCalmont of this place.

The funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church, Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. There was a large attendance of friends and relatives in spite of the inclement weather and many beautiful floral tributes reposed upon the casket testifying to the high esteem in which the departed one was held.

The services were conducted by Dr. William Laurie, pastor of the church, who preached from St John, XIV chapter 1st, 2nd and 3rd verses "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions; if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also."

The sermon was very touching and paid a high tribute to the departed one.

Master Fred Weaver presided at the organ and a quartette composed of Misses Butts and Graham and Messrs Brown and Harris rendered several selections.

The interment took place in the Union cemetery and was private. The casket bearers were Messrs. D. F. Fortney, Jared Harper, F. H. Thomas, Isaac Underwood, Hammond Sechler and S. H. Williams.

Sarah Ellen McLaughlin.

The sudden death of Mrs. Sarah Ellen McLaughlin on Dec. 24th at her home at Intersection has caused sadness and sorrow to the hearts of many relatives and friends. The deceased was born October 20th, 1846 and was at the time of her death aged 57 years, 2 months and 4 days.

While but a child she was converted and united with the Unionville Baptist church of which she was a consistant member for 39 years. Her neighbors and acquaintances testify unanimously to her devout christian character. Her faith in Christ was always strong and sure. She was one of those motherly souls whose hospitality and sympathy so much bless mankind. She will be sadly missed both in home and community.

Mrs. McLaughlin is survived by her husband, Chas. A. McLaughlin, and the following children: Mrs. Mary McKee, Braddock, Pa.; Mrs. Ethel Murray, Milesburg, Pa.; Mrs. Bessie Smith, Miss Sue McLaughlin and Ralph McLaughlin all at home. These also attended the funeral her brother, William Taylor, and two daughters from Defiance, Pa., and her sisters Mrs. Mary Hancock, Runville, Pa., Mrs. Martha Meyers, Rebersburg, Pa., and Clara Leathers, Washington, D. C.

Funeral services were held at the Evangelical church at Intersection conducted by Rev. A. C. Lathrop, assisted by Rev. Zeigler.

The funeral services were largely attended by many relatives and friends. Interment was made in the cemetery near Unionville.

May E. Aikey.

Miss May E. Aikey peacefully fell asleep in Jesus, Christmas morning, aged 21 years, 1 month, 2 days. The deceased had been for about nine months a sufferer from the dread disease, consumption. She was a member of the United Brethren church of Bellefonte and possessed of a sweet christian spirit which attacted many friends to her. During her illness she was taken care of in the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Jodon of Milesburg, where every ministry of love and kindness that could be done for the young sufferer was cheerfully rendered. She loved her Bible and Savior, and in the very face of death had an abiding confidence in her Lord which led her to welcome the end.

Miss Aikey is survived by her father Theodore Aikey of Bellefonte; two sisters, Miss Minnie of Curtin, and Miss Helen, of Bellefonte, and two brothers, Harry and Eddie of Red School House, and a half brother Elmer, of Bellefonte.

Funeral services in memoriam of this young christian woman were held in the Baptist church at Milesburg conducted by Pastor A. C. Lathrop who was assisted by Rev. Zeigler. A large concourse of sorrowing relatives and friends attended the services. Interment was made at Curtin.

John D. Wagner.

With the death of John D. Wagner, of Martha, Centre Co., loses another of its well know citizens and veterans. He died on Sunday Dec. 27th, at the ripe age of 74 years, 4 months and 8 days. He was a member of Co. H., of the 148th regiment of Penna, Volunteers, and served nearly 3 years in the war of the Rebellion. He was married Aug. 18th, 1853 to Miss Phoebe Ardrey, who still survives him. To this union twelve children were born of whom seven daughters and one son survive. He has been for many years a devout and consecrated christian. For 56 years he was an active member of the M. E. Church and has been class teacher of the M. E. Church at Martha since before the War. Funeral services in his memory were held in the M. E. Church at Martha on Dec. 29th. They were attended by a large concourse of relatives and friends, the services were conducted by his pastor, Rev. J. B. Dunkle who was assisted by Rev. A. C. Lathrop. Interment was made in the Williams cemetery.

Margaret Aikens.

Mrs. Margaret Aikens of near Milesburg passed from earth to the heavenly life on Dec. 28th, at the mature age of 74 years, 4 months, and 12 days. She died in the hope of the Gospel and happy in the consciousness of a present Saviour. For about 58 years she has been a member of the Messiah church. She was one of a family of 20 children all of whom have passed away except one brother and one sister. She is survived by her husband, Perry Aikens, three sons, Litch and William of near Milesburg, and George of Uniontown, Pa., and one daughter Mrs. Nettie Heverly of Milesburg.

Funeral services in her memory were held at her late residence on Wednesday, Dec 30th, conducted by Rev. Zeigler, who was assisted by Rev. A. C. Lathrop. Interment was made in the Messiah cemetery.

Death of Edward Pidgeon.

Edward Pidgeon, a well known citizen of Houtzdale, died suddenly Monday night about 9 o'clock at his home in that place, aged 59 years. The deceased conducted an extensive livery stable and was identified with other interests. He had many friends in Bellefonte who will be sorry to learn of his death.

He belonged to the Masonic fraternity and will be buried today by Mosbannon Commandery, K. T., of Philipsburg, of which he was a member. He leaves a wife and several children.

THE TEACHERS INSTITUTE

Pretty School Marms and Sedate Pedagogues at Philipsburg.

THEY ARE HONORED GUESTS

It is the 57th Session of the Centre County Teachers Institute and it Opened Monday in the Mountain City.

REPORT OF PROCEEDINGS TO DATE

The 57th annual meeting of the Centre County Teachers Institute is in session this week in the School building at Philipsburg and is being largely attended.

The people of Philipsburg are giving them a hearty welcome and they are being entertained royally. Institute opened Monday afternoon.

After the teachers were located, and dinner procured, they were then to be seen wending their way to the school building, when enrollment commenced. All seemed anxious to become members of the institute. Prof. Gramley, with his characteristic promptness, called the meeting to order, and the work of organization was speedily effected.

Rev. F. J. Clerc, D. D., read a brief scripture lesson and offered an appropriate petition, closing with the Lord's Prayer. Then Prof. Meyer led the institute in singing, "How gentle God's commands."

Dr. W. W. Andrews, president of the Philipsburg Board of Education, delivered the address of welcome, in well-chosen words. In the same he extended to the teachers a hearty welcome to our town, and wished them an enjoyable as well as profitable week. The appreciation of these words of welcome was shown by a most generous applause.

James Gregg made the response to this address of welcome, and in a few fitting words expressed the gratification and appreciation of the visiting teachers.

The institute then sang a selection from the song book furnished each teacher.

Prof. Gramley made a few brief statements, saying, "We are in Philipsburg, yet some people doubted we would be here. We are not in Clearfield county as the papers tried to locate Philipsburg, but still on this side of the Moquannon."

Dr. F. D. Pearsons, of Ohio, was introduced to the teechers, for a short talk, as the time was passing rapidly. He is certainly a speaker of note, and will give some things not over the heads of the teachers, but right at them, and along lines practical and beneficial.

Tuesday institute convened at 9.05 a. m. Devotional exercises were conducted by Dr. Pennypacker. The speakers of the day were Dr. Pearson, of Ohio, Miss Willette, teacher of reading in Central State Normal school; Dr. F. M. McMurry of New York city.

The evening entertainments are held in the opera house, and the first was a lecture by A. W. Hawks, of Baltimore, Tuesday evening, on the subject, "Sunshine and Shadow." On Wednesday evening the Original Carolina Jubilee Singers gave one of their pleasing entertainments, and on Thursday evening Robert S. MacArthur, D. D., LL. D., the distinguished New York clergyman, will lecture on "The Empire of the Czar, the Great Kear of the North."

Centre County Horticulture and Fruit at the St. Louis Fair.

Cyrus T. Fox, Esq., of Reading, who has been appointed superintendent of horticulture at the St. Louis exposition, has addressed the following inquiries to horticulturists and fruit growers generally throughout Pennsylvania and desires a prompt reply from all who can give him any information on these subjects. If any citizen of Centre county has anything in either of the lines mentioned worthy of exhibition at that show we would advise them to write to Mr. Fox at once.

Following are the inquiries:

1. Will it be possible to secure from your county any winter varieties of fruit, of the crop of 1903, for exhibition at the St. Louis exposition?—

2. Are any considerable quantities of winter apples and pears now in storage in your immediate vicinity, and can you give the names of a few parties having fruit in storage?—

3. What varities of apples and other fruits, native to your county or section of the State, can be obtained for exhibition, either now or during the summer and fall of 1904?—

4. Will it be possible to secure for exhibition specimens of small fruits—strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, etc., in your section, during the season of 1904?—

5. How did the fruit crop of 1903 in your neighborhood compare with other years as to quantity and quality? Was it poor, medium, average or very abundant?—

6. Who are the successful fruit growers of your immediate vicinity?—

7. Are vegetables grown to any extent for market in your section, and is much attention paid to new varieties? How about potatoes?—

8. What can you do for Pennsylvania's horticultural display at St. Louis?—

No Surgical Parallel.

An operation having no parallel in the surgical world was performed at St Joseph's hospital, at Sioux City, Ia., Monday, by Dr. William Jepson, who has the chair of surgery at the state university. John Norstrom, of Danbury, Conn., fell from a load of hay, striking on his head and breaking his neck. He had been almost paralyzed for weeks and Dr. Jepson decided to operate on his broken neck. Accordingly a portion of the third crevital vertebræ was removed, the false growth of tissue was cleaned out and the bone replaced. The patient is doing well, with every prospect of recovery. Operations have been performed for lumbar vertebræ, but no other case is known in which the crevital vertebræ situated so near the medulla oblongata, the seat of the vital bodily functions, has been successfully removed and replaced.

Gates—Utley.

At high noon, on Dec. 25, Benner G. Gates of Loveville, and Sarah L. Utley, of Dungarvin, were united in marriage by the Rev. E. M. Aller, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Malaker. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives and friends of the happy couple after which the friends were ushered into a dining room where a table groaning under its weight of good things awaited them. The dinner reflected great credit upon Mrs. Malaker, under whose supervision it was prepared. Mr. and Mrs. Gates have the good wishes of hosts of admiring friends.—Tyrone Herald.

The groom is a brother of Miss Ellie Gates and Mr. Charles L. Gates of this place.

Teachers Forbidden to Take Pupils, Gifts

Through Superintendent Warner, of the public schools of York, Pa., the teachers were notified on Monday that gifts to them from the schools or pupils individually had been prohibited by recent resolutions of the board of school controllers. This action was taken by the school board after it had received numerous complaints pertaining to the abuse of the custom of giving presents to the teachers during the Christmas holidays.

Notice to Dental Patrons.

Dr. J. J. Kilpatrick, whose dental office is in the Temple Court, wishes through the columns of the Daily News to notify his patrons that he will be out of town until on or about January 1. Dr. Kilpatrick has built up a large and lucrative practice in the short time he has been here and his work is highly satisfactory.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

Some Odd Incidents In Congressional Life.

Speaker Cannon of the house of representatives recently designated the half moon shaped space directly in front of the speaker's desk as the "area," says the Washington correspondent of the New York Herald.

Champ Clark, the Democratic proverb maker from Missouri, announced that he will undertake to set a new style in the house. He will hereafter deliver all his remarks from the "area." Mr. Clark maintains that with the house of representatives containing nearly 400 members, none of whom "cares a bang" to hear the man who has the floor, something must be done or oratory will be a lost art. A member addressing the house from the "area" would have an opportunity to train his guns on the faces of his enemy at least, even if he did have to turn his back upon the speaker.

See a pin and pick it up,
And all the day you'll have good luck.

This is the couplet which Representative Crumpacker of Indiana acknowledges is his undoing. He came to congress with the firm determination to bring his psychological powers to bear to the end that he might be one of the first to be given an opportunity to select his seat. He walked to the capitol with his mind focused on this very point. Just before he reached the entrance he spied a pin on the ground. Mr. Crumpacker has avoirdupois, and with his gloves on it required a determined effort to acquire the pin. He did so, however, and with satisfaction, feeling doubly assured that now the coveted seat was his. When the drawing began he crowded to the front where he could make a dash for the desk he wanted. He waited. There were 400 marbles in the box to be drawn, and Mr. Crumpacker drew the three hundred and ninety-ninth.

IRISH IN HIGH SCHOOLS.

Novel Resolution Adopted by Boston Common Council.

At the meeting of the common council of Boston Mr. Grady offered resolutions which were adopted without debate. They were as follows:

Whereas, A large number of Irish-American citizens desire to and are studying the Irish language at a considerable expense to themselves, and

Whereas, The number of such persons studying the said language would be greatly increased if the opportunities were better, and,

Whereas, The amount of taxes paid by said citizens for the maintenance of the public schools would warrant the establishing of courses in such language; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we, the city council, do hereby request the school committee to include in the curriculum of the day and evening high schools the study of the Irish language.

Brave Alfonso.

King Alfonso had a little adventure, rather unusual with sovereigns, the other day. His majesty was walking in the Prado when a bullock broke from a herd that was being driven and, tearing away at full gallop, showed every disposition to use its horns among the pedestrians and equipages. There was a regular stampede, but the king showed his spirit and, drawing a revolver, brought the beast down with two or three swiftly delivered shots.

FORCIBLE FACTS.

One-sixth of the deaths from disease are due to consumption. Ninty-eight per cent. of all those who have used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery for "weak lungs," have been perfectly and permanenly cured. Cornelius McCawley of Leechburg, Armstrong Co. Pa., had in all eighty-one hemorrhages. He says: "My doctor did all he could for me but could not stop the hemorrhages, and all gave me up to die with consumption." What doctors could not do "Golden Medcal Discovery" did. It stopped the hemorrhages and cured their cause. This is one case out of thousands. Investigate the facts.

NEW YORK'S LATEST MODES.

As Seen by Elaine Roze—The Correct Gown for General Wear—Wearing Against Over-Elaboration.

Hotel Majestic, New York, Dec. 1903.

If there is any possible device left unemployed to vary the styles in winter costumes it must figure among new inventions, for every old-time idea is certainly in commission! Smocking, plaiting, puffs, stirrs and ruffles all play a part in the composition of milady's fascinating outfit, while short or medium length trim frocks are fashionable as ever for women who prefer gowns of more severe order.

And here and now let me commend the woman who chooses the latter style if her wardrobe allowance is too limited to furnish her many gowns.

Great is the variety of woolens suitable for the "general wear" frock, and of braids, embroidery and applique bands there seems to be no end, soutache braids being particularly popular. Braids trim braids, and braid pendants abound in all possible shapes.

And such a number of capes are worn; Made of cloth, velvet, fur and every conceivable material. The old fashioned shoulder-cape is in favor again, rivalling the pointed and pelerine shapes.

The exceptionally stunning model of the trig tailor-made variety which I have illustrated for you, was made for a young matron prominent in New York's "smart set." Built of a brownish mixed Scotch cheviot, and smartly trimmed with a scroll-like design in brown silk braid, it shows admirably the most practical type of gown for various occasions.

Another excellent design for general wear is shown of black broadcloth with panels of the same extending nearly to the bottom of the skirt, and edged with a very natty appearing black and white mixed braid. With it is worn a dainty peau de crepe blouse of shirt-waist family, but with a hint of the dress waist in the elaboration of the neck-dressing.

Late models in odd blouse waists run more to elaborate collars than to other trimmings, but the general character of the garment bids fair to remain the same, notwithstanding the rumors that are in the air of the return of the bodice of multi-darts boned into long waisted effect.

As yet, there is no indication of such an event, and she who has her gown cut with a long sloping shoulder, waist blouse slightly over a C B a la Spirite model corset, her skirt cut close about the hips, with plenty of frou frou at the bottom, and avoids all outre, or unusual effects in her gown for general wear may feel assured that she is presenting a neat trim appearance for almost any occasion, and looking far more "classy" than her sister of the inappropriate frills and fur belows.

AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Three Elders and one Deacon Installed and Ordained—Rev. R. P. Miller, of Philipsburg, Preached the Sermon.

Elders are essential to the existence of a Presbyterian Church. Some time ago it was felt that more elders were needed in the Bellefonte Presbyterian Church, seeing that by death and resignation they had been reduced to four, these being James Harris, A. O. Furst, James A. Beaver, and Samuel Shaffer. A few weeks ago four new elders were elected by the congregation, viz. Dr. Thomas R. Hays, William P. Humes, Frank McCoy, and Charles E. Gilmour. At the same time two deacons were elected, viz. William Gainfort, and Francis H. Thomas. Sunday morning three of these elders and one of the deacons were ordained and installed. Dr. Thomas R. Hayes, being in California, and Mr. F. H. Thomas being out of town were not ordained, their ordination and installation will come later. Dr. Laurie suffering from a cold, the Rev Rufus P. Miller pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Philipsburg Pa., preached the sermon. His subject was the fatherhood of God, and it was a most delightful and helpful sermon, one that pleased and profited all. At the close of the sermon the members of the present Session came forward, also the three elders elected, viz. WilliamP. Humes, Frank McCoy, and Charles E. Gilmour, also the deacon just elected, viz. William Gainfort. After giving from the Scriptures the warrant for these offices, and the duties of the same with the character and qualifications required, these men were set apart by Dr. Laurie for their several offices by prayer, and were installed in office: The entire service was most simple, yet impressive. To meet the duties of an elder or deacon, a man must be a good man, and a faithful man. Seeing that these men were elected by the unanimous vote of the congregation, that shows the estimation in which they are held by those who know them best. To be the choice of this large congregation for these important offices is certainly no small honor. As seen by the history of this church written by Dr. Laurie the church has done a grand work in the past, and its progress has always been to something better, we are sure that the future will be more rich in usefulness and benevolence than even in the past.

Seriously Injured.

Walter Weaver, aged 23 years, was run over Monday afternoon about 3 o'clock by a car loaded with iron ore while at work at the Gatesburg mine bank. Several of his ribs were broken and he was injured internally.

Weaver is employed at the head of an inclined plane dumping cars loaded with ore as they come out of the mine bank. He was at the break when he slipped and fell, the car weighing 1000 lbs and loaded with 1400 lbs of ore passing over his body.

He is a son of Thomas Weaver and his home is at Axe Mann. Dr. Fisher of Zion is attending him and reports him in a critical condition.

COUGHS, COLDS, AND CONSTIPATION.

Few people realize when taking cough medicines other than Foley's Honey and Tar, that they contain opiates which are constipating besides being unsafe, particularly for children; Foley's Honey and Tar contains no opiates, is safe and sure and will not constipate. C. M. Parrish.

—Mrs. Michael Kelly is quite seriously ill with the grip at her home on West Beaver street. We hope that her illness may be only temporary and that she may soon be restored to health again.

RETURNED FROM COLON!

Admiral John G. Walker of the Canal Commission.

IN PANAMA FOUR WEEKS

Says the New Republic has Excellent and Capable Men at its Head—Everything Orderly and Quiet.

RAINY SEASON IS APPROACHING

WASHINGTON, December 23.—A full and important statement of affairs on the isthmus has been made by Admiral John G. Walker chairman of the isthmian canal commission, who returned to Washington from Colon Tuesday night. The admiral's stay on the isthmus covered a period of about four weeks, during which time he went over the ground very thoroughly, particularly with reference to the condition of the canal property. Admiral Walker went to Colon as the representative of the president soon after the republic was proclaimed and in this capacity had an excellent opportunity to acquaint himself with what has occurred.

"The Panama government," he said, "is composed of excellent, capable men, who have the confidence of the people. Everything is orderly and quiet and had I not known that revolution had taken place before I arrived, there was nothing to show there had been any change. The other thing apparent was the fact that I could not get as much silver for an American dollar as I had on previous trips to that country. The government officials express confidence that the coming constitutional convention will endorse the ratification of the Hay-Bunau-Varilla Panama canal treaty.

The admiral said the isthmians have no fear that Colombia will attempt to reconquer the country. There is not, he said, a trail in all Panama of sufficient width on which to drive a wagon. Colombia has never built a trail or constructed a bridge in Panama. The impossibility of the country renders it unlikely, in the admiral's opinion, that any warlike measures will be undertaken by Colombia.

"The end of the rainy season in Panama is now approaching" said Admiral Walker, "and the weather is hot. However, I did not see or hear of a case of fever of any kind while I was in Panama. Yellow fever does appear in Panama, but the inhabitants insist always that it is imported when it does make its appearance."

Sliding on the Pavements.

If the street officials would see to it that property owners keep their pavements clean you would need no ordinance to keep children from sliding on the side walks. Children do not slide on clean pavements. During a large portion of the winter season, parts of the pavements in Bellefonte are not kept safe for pedestrians and are only fit for children to use with their skates and sleds. Keep the pavements clean and safe for foot travel and the children will not trouble you with their sliding. Those who have fallen and been injured do not blame the little ones but blame the street officials for not enforcing the law in the matter.

A Young Man's Sad Death.

William P. Nideigh died Sunday in the hospital at Hagerstown Md. Nideigh was fireman on a train between Harrisburg and Hagerstown, Md., and on Saturday while making a trip the engine blew up and Nideigh was so badly scalded that he died at the above stated time.

He was a native of Pennsylvania Furnace and was 26 years of ago. The remains were taken there Monday morning and the funeral took place Tuesday morning Dec. 22, at 10 o'clock. Interment in the Pine Hall cemetery.

The unfortunate man is survived by his parents, five sisters and three brothers. He was highly respected and belonged to one of the pioneer families of Ferguson township. His untimely death is mourned by a large number of friends and acquaintances.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The last Session of the old Year—The Business Transacted.

The borough council met Monday evening at 7.30 for their last session of the old year. In the absence of President Cunningham the council selected Col. Reynolds as President pro tem. The following members were present: Reynolds, Fenlon, Wise, Whittaker, Kirk.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the clerk W. T. Kelly and there being no corrections they stood approved.

Boro Solicitor Fortney reported the settlement of the disputed water claims, the amounts have been received and turned over to the Boro Treasurer.

Dr. Kirk moved seconded by Mr. Fenlon that those water consumers who pay by the meter and who had been taxed at 12cts per thousand gallons be reimbursed so that the amount paid should not exceed 6cts per thousand gallon.

Boro Engineer Wetzel submitted plans for a sewer pipe on West High and Thomas streets.

The report of the Finance committee was as follow:

Dr. Kirk moved that the Street committee ascertain the entire cost of building these sewer and report at next meeting.

The new ordinance prepared by Boro Solicitor Fortney and the Water committee regulating the Water department and fixing water rates was then read. It is quite lengthy and goes into the matter in detail. After much discussion it was held over until next meeting night.

An ordinance granting and regulating the proposed street railway, stating what streets it should pass through, style of cars, tracks etc., right-of way etc., was offered and read by the clerk. It was referred back to the Ordinance committee for further conference.

Mrs. Jane Brown, of East Howard street, had her tax reduced from $3.72 to $2.00.

London's Whistles.

A boy was charged at a London police court the other day with blowing a whistle in such a way as to cause three policemen to come toward him. The fact that such a thing is possible suggests the questions: How do the police distinguish between a cab whistle and a police whistle? What is there to prevent any one from blowing a whistle in such a way as to call a policeman?

A representative of the Graphic who put these questions to a high official of the city police learned that in the matter of attending to whistles, as with his many other duties, the policeman uses his discretion. Any shrill whistle will attract a policeman, but such a whistle blown at night outside a restaurant or any place where people congregate and cabs are wanted would not bring a policeman to the whistler. The same whistle blown in precisely the same way in the middle of the city at midday would bring a policeman on the scene at once.—London Graphic.

DEMOCRACY IN EDUCATION.

An Englishman Is Impressed by Our State Universities.

Hon. William Henry Jones, member of the English parliament, who is visiting the United States with the Mosely delegation which has for its purpose the study of higher educational methods in America, is much impressed with the growth of democracy in education here and declares that the state universities are superior to the privately endowed colleges.

In a recent statement Mr. Jones said it would be difficult to name the first five great American universities, as we have so many institutions of unquestionably high standing and large purpose, but that if he were to do so seriously he probably would have to name them, following the sun, Harvard, Cornell, the University of Michigan, the University of Wisconsin and the University of California.

To name the first ten, he said, would be still more difficult, as that would put a larger number of great institutions into competition, but that if he were to do so it would be almost impossible for him to add any five to the first list mentioned that did not include the state universities of Illinois, Nebraska, Minnesota and possibly Kansas and Tennessee.

He states that if there is any one college that would have preference with him it probably would be the University of Wisconsin.

"This university," he says, "is strong in numbers. It is democracy, where merit alone counts. Its standing in scholarship is of the highest; its degrees are recognized by every university in the world, and its spirit and purpose are as broad and inclusive as the universe. Unlike the older colleges of the east, it is not circumscribed and hampered by a conservative, classic curriculum, nor is it intimidated by its benefactors, as are some of the colleges founded by the predatory rich.

"It is the wholesome product of a commonwealth of 3,000,000 people, sane, democratic, industrial and progressive, with ideals and unafraid of ideas. It responds to every need of humanity; it knits together the professions and labor; it makes the fine arts and the anvil one. There are many of these state universities that have much or all of this, but to this must be added the natural endowment of the University of Wisconsin—its location is sublime."

EXCITING WALK FOR $100.

Harvard Man Won His Wager, but Was Pestered by Hoodlums.

Followed by an obstreperous crowd of hoodlums, shouting and shooting at every step, and smiled at by maidens, Mason Whiting of Harvard walked thirty miles, from the Oakley Country club in Waverly to a spot near Scituate Beach, covering the distance in seven hours and twelve minutes and thereby winning $100 from one of his college mates, who bet that the distance could not be covered in less than seven hours and a half, says a Cambridge special to the New York World.

Although Whiting won, his friends had plenty of fun at his expense. Previous to his attempt bills were distributed profusely along the route announcing the day and the hour on which he would appear and advertising that he would distribute chewing gum to the women, tobacco to the men and football suits and baseballs to the boys living in the districts through which he was to pass.

Naturally these notices were taken with due seriousness by the juvenile portion of the population, and whenever Whiting appeared he was assailed by crowds of little muckers, whose yells of "Hey, there! Gimme me football pants!" and, "Say, mister, where's dat baseball?" followed him as persistently as the clatter of his own footsteps on the hard stone walks. At times these crowds grew to such alarming proportions that he could with difficulty force his way through them. Then, knowing that time was valuable, he would duck into a store where his youthful satellites dared not follow and would throw them temporarily off his track by stealing out the back door and running on through alleys and over garbage heaps as fast as he could.

The End of Punch and Judy.

The sad word recently came from Paris that Punch and Judy are losing their favor with the youngsters who spend the fine days in the various squares and parks. There are still two Guignol theaters left in the Champs Elysees, under the trees of the park, near the president's palace. These rent for $147 a year. Lately one was put up at auction, and not a solitary bid was made for it. It will be torn down and its properties sold as rubbish.

New Uniform For Prussian Troops.

The German military administration has decided to change again the uniform of the Prussian army, says the Berlin correspondent of the New York World. A new campaign uniform is to be made of a greenish gray color, with buttons of the same shade. Instead of the tunic now worn, there will be a blouse cut in the Russian fashion.

A Church Built In One Day.

A church capable of seating 3,000 persons was built between daybreak and midnight on a recent Saturday in a suburb of Chicago. The contract for erecting the church was signed on Friday at midnight, and the building was dedicated on Sunday morning. No floor was laid, the ground being simply covered with shavings, but modern conveniences, such as furnaces and electric lights, were not omitted.

Prominent Young People Wedded.

On Wednesday Dec 23d, at high noon, two of Centre County's well known young People were married at the Baptist parsonage at Milesburg by Pastor A. C. Lathrop. The contracting parties were Mr. Geo. C. Yarnell of Yarnell and Miss Maud B. Fetzer of Milesburg. Mr. Martin Fetzer was best man and Miss Lulu Fetzer, sister of the bride was bridesmaid. The bride was prettily gowned in pearl cloth, the groom wore the conventional suit. The groom is a son of Jacob Yarnell, the well known tax collector of Boggs Township. After the ceremony the wedding party proceeded to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fetzer of Boggs Township, where together with relatives and friends a sumptuous wedding feast was enjoyed.

After spending their honeymoon in Centre county Mr. and Mrs. Yarnell expects to go to housekeeping at Clearfield, where Mr. Yarnell is employed as a carpenter.

Heaviest Bear Shot in Potter County.

Paul B. Davis, Assistant city engineer, of Reading, while hunting in Potter county this week came upon a large black bear, while the animal was devouring a sheep. When 120 feet away Davis fired, the shot taking effect in the groin. Bruin advanced and when about 60 feet from the hunter, another shot was fired, which took effect in the hind leg. This only infuriated the animal, and he started to attack Mr. Davis, who fired a third time sending a load of shot into the animal's brain, killing him instantly. The bear was found to weigh 480 pounds. Old guides in Potter county declare it was one of the heaviest caught in that section for many years

Secrets of Our Supremacy in Iron and Steel

In looking for the causes which underlie the supremacy of the United States in the steel and iron trade, honesty and gratitude alike demand that first place be given to the marvelous natural resources of the country, for which there is no parallel anywhere in the world, says the iron and steel Number of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN. Not only has nature provided stores of iron ore, coal, and limestone in lavish abundance, but the supply itself is easy of recovery from its native beds, and advantageously placed for the transporting of its various elements to a common center; while the materials are of a quality that could scarcely be surpassed for economy of handling and treatment in mine, furnace, and mill. But although the fundamental secrets of our success are to be found in natural conditions, to much cannot be said in praise of the intelligence and skill with which the American iron master has risen to his opportunities. It is to the remarkable ingenuity shown in the production of labor-saving machinery that much of the cheapening of the cost of production is due; to say nothing of the broad administrative ability shown by the management of the great steel and iron works, in laying out the component parts of their establishments in such a way that the heavy tonnage which passes through these lands day by day shall proceed from the crude material to the finished product with the least possible amount of handling and transshipment. Lastly our iron and steel men, early in the history of the development of the industry, perceived and acted upon the fundamental economic fact that, for the cheap production of iron and steel, magnitude of operations and combinations of capital are essential.

Salona Boy's Close Call.

Deputy County Treasurer John A. Shearer's 15 year old son, Fiske, of Salona, drove to Lock Haven on Monday afternoon and being very fond of skating he went out alone on the dam below the river bridge, and not being acquainted with the holes made by the ice cutters accidentally skated across one of these places where the ice was to thin to bear his weight and he broke through. Fiske is a swimmer of much confidence but he very soon realized that he could not pull himself out as the ice broke at every attempt and he called loudly for help which was heard by a man who was cutting ice some distance below, who ran to his assistance and thrust his saw out to him and assisted him to a place of safety. The boy then ran to the court house to his father's office and he directed him to go immediately to his uncle's, Sheriff Shearer, at the jail, where dry clothing was given him. It was a close call and only for the fact that he was a good swimmer are we prevented from recording a fatal drowning accident.—Lock Haven Democrat.

How's That For America?

One of the most prominent London papers in commenting on the American theatrical invasion, remarks that "it is curious how American performers and American music have invaded that typical institution, The Christmas Pantomime. For the last two or three years the greatest pantomime successes have been American, and this year promises the same thing." Among others of the season's song hits which have been imported from America are John W. Bratton's "My Cosy Corner Girl," "Connill's Cullud Band," by Davids & Meakim, which is the recognized cakewalk tune over there; and "Just to Please You, Sue," by Sidney Perrin; and "My Little Hong Kong Baby," by West and Bratton, both of which are being sung with great success by Ellaline Terriss; "I'm a Jonah Man," is another American song success which caught on immediately when first introduced to Londoners by Bert Williams of Williams and Walker. The song lovers over there will not soon forget "Blushing Rosie," an American song which was the hit of the Christmas Pantomime a few seasons ago; nor "Maud," the song which made such a tremendous sensation in "The Toreador" at the Gaiety.

Musser—Meek.

Francis M. Musser of Altoona and Miss Mary Meek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dempster Meek of Waddle, were married at the bride's home at 10:30 o'clock Tuesday morning Dec. 22nd. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Eplanger of the Stormstown M. E. charge in the presence of about fifty guests, immediate friends and relatives of bride and groom. Miss Gertrude Wilson of Altoona, who was to have been bridesmaid, was so affected by the matrimonial atmosphere that she could not face her duty so Dr. Reuben Meek of Oak Grove and Ben Meek of State College, brothers of the bride "stood up" with the couple.

After a wedding dinner such as can be imagined in the home of such a representative citizen as Mr. Dempster Meek, the bridal couple took the Bald Eagle Valley train at Martha for Chicago, as a wedding trip. After an absence of about ten days they will settle down to everyday life at Altoona. Many valuable presents were received by the young couple to help them over the first rough spots of housekeeping. The bride is well known in this part of the country as a charming young lady. Her friends pin their confidence on her to make a good wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Musser have the best wishes of all for a happy married life.

The Centre Hall Foundry.

With the failure of the Victor Bath Tub Company to operate the Centre Hall foundry, an effort is being made to organize a company to operate the plant.

The company, so it is said is composed of good business men local and foreign—with sufficient money to conduct the plant on a scale fully as large as ever before.

This company, if the plan is perfected, will build the well-known Centre Hall corn planters, land rollers, etc., and do casting of a general character. In addition to this a patent hydrant will be manufactured.

The management of the proposed company will be in full sympathy with the business men of Centre Hall and the town itself.

The Centre Hall foundry, with the exception of the smash-up in its early days when it was attempted to manufacture a reaper, has always been a paying institution, and any capital invested in the plant will reap profit. The closing of the foundry for the past year or more is due to peculiar conditions which need not be recited here, and not because the plant has been barren of profits.—Centre Reporter.

Notion Peddler Moyer Released From Custody.

Edward Moyer, the old man arrested at Sunbury on suspicion of knowing something about the murder of Operator Clendenen, was released late Monday afternoon. Railroad Detective Lebo went to Montoursville and had an interview with the watchman of the mill where the peddler claimed to have been on the night of the murder. His statement that he slept all night on a bunk in the engine room was confirmed by the watchman, and late in the afternoon the jail door was opened and Peddler Moyer was permitted to walk out and again enjoy his freedom.

—The Williamsport Democracy will hold its Jackson Day banquet at the Park hotel on Friday evening, January 8, 1904, and among the prominent speakers who have accepted invitations to attend are Congressman William Sulzer, of New York; Congressman DeArmond, Missouri; Congressman Dickerman, of Milton; Hon. James Kerr and Hon. R. S. Ammerman. Otto G. Kaupp, Esq., will be toastmaster.

—The churches were poorly attended Sunday in spite of the fact that special Christmas music was rendered in many of them.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Washington, D. C., December 29, 1903.

Regarding the democratic opposition to the Panama canal treaty, which continues to be the main topic of conversation here, Senator Simmons, a democrat from North Carolina, says "If the democratic party be instrumental in bringing about the defeat of the treaty, the American people will hold the party responsible therefore and might soon forget the conduct of the President." This is but one of many expressions of opinion by democratic Senators, which makes the republicans certain that the treaty will be ratified.

In renouncing their opposition to the treaty, the minority Senators have been described as deserting a sinking ship, and politicians are now asking what will be the effect of Senator Gorman's blunder in starting his party on a course from which they were turned by the instruction of their state legislatures or by the demands of democratic governors and their party press. The Maryland Senator has led his party into a mistake and has injured, if not destroyed, his chances of the democratic momination; at least such is the general opinion here. It is significant that Leader Murphy of Tammany Hall, whose motto is success and who judges men merely by their vote getting ability, has given out a partial endorsement of William Randolph Hearst as the next candidate, although until recently the Tammany leader was very friendly with Senator Gorman. Representative Cooper of Texas, who declared that Gorman is a "slick politician" but that this reputation is not popular with the people, says that Hearst will get the nomination and that Gorman will manage the campaign. It is thought by many that Senator Gorman's mistake on the canal question will rob him even of his title of "slick politician." The next democratic caucus where the canal question will be discussed promises to be a stormy one, and may result in Leader Gorman's practical downfall.

Senator Morgan will speak against the canal and it is believed that he will occupy much of the Senate's time but little of its attention. If the democrats insist upon delivering campaign speeches in the Senate, the republican majority will have the treaty considered in executive session.

Chances of a war with Columbia are much discussed here, and it is though quite possible that Columbia's determination to attack Panama will involve her in a conflict with the United States. General Reyes, who it still in Washington, recognizes the danger of this and continues to cable his countrymen to be patient, and not to forget that war with Panama means war with the only world power of the Western hemisphere. He has handed Secretary Hay a note of protest against the United States recognition of Panama, and is awaiting the reply before returning to Columbia to take command of the army and charge of the government. No doubt the General will try to fight if his countrymen insist, but seeing the uselessness of such a struggle, he intends to do his utmost to prevent it.

To answer the criticism of the democrats that the ratification of the canal treaty by the Panama junta was not equivalent to its acceptance by representative men on the Isthmus, Minister Dunau-Varilla brought to State Department official notice that the act of the junta has been formally approved by the municipal councils of the twelve principal provinces of the republic.

Admiral John G. Walker has returned from the Isthmus and handed a satisfactory report to the President. He says that the health of the marines on the Isthmus is good, that there are now plenty of them to protect Panama, that their presence is desired by the inhabitants and that it is not advisable to send regular troops as this action might cause some uneasiness. Minister W. I. Buchanan is now at Panama and was accorded a magnificent reception at the government palace. All the ministers, members of the junta and prominent foreigners were present The new American Minister was escorted by a body of troops and given a guard of honor. He has presented his credentials and complete diplomatic relations with the new republic are thus established. Great Britian and Cuba have recognized Panama.

The Administration is prepared for any emergency on the Isthmus. More marines are being sent and several transport ships are in readiness to hurry troops to the scene in case of trouble. If there must be war, it is thought that the most human way would be to end it at once and in such a manner that it would not occur again. Colombia would be defeated quickly and would perhaps become American territory.

$375 WORTH SENT FREE

By Franklin Miles, M. D., LL. B. the Specialist in Diseases of the Heart, Nerves, Stomach and Kidneys.

Has Cured Hundreds of "Incurable" Cases after Five to Thirty Physicians Failed.

When an experienced physician offers to give away his New Treatments for diseases of the heart, nerves, stomach, or dropsy, it is conclusive evidence that he has great faith in them. And when hundreds of prominent men and women freely testify to his unusual skill and the superiority of his New Special Treatments his liberality is certainly worthy of serious consideration.

That Dr. Franklin Miles is one of the world's most successful physicians is proven by thousands of wonderful cures of well-known people. One patient cured after failure of eleven Grand Rapids physicians, one after being given up by 30 physicians, one after failure of 22 physicians, another after nine of the leading doctors in New York City, Philadelphia and Chicago failed.

The eminent Rev. W. Bell, D. D., of Dayton, Ohio, General Secretary of Foreign Missions, writes editorially in The State Sunday School Union: "We desire to state that from personal acquaintance we know Dr. Miles to be a most skillful Specialist, a man who has spared neither labor nor money to keep himself abreast of the great advancement of medical science."

Prof. J S. Jewell, M. D., editor of Journal of Mental and Nervous Diseases, Chicago, said: "by all means publish your surprising result." Rev. J. W. Stokesbury, of Fairport, Mo., had head, heart, stomach troubles and nervous prostration. Three physicians failed to help him. He writes: "I regard myself cured." Mr C. Beck, of Webb City, Mo., wrote a friend, "Dr. Miles treated me for mind trouble, unnatural fears and great nervousness. He cured me nine years ago.

One thousand remarkable testimonials sent upon request.

As all may have a course of treatment prepared especially for their case, free, as a trial, we would advise them to send for it at once. Address DR. FRANKLIN MILES, 501 to 511 Main street, Elkhart, Ind. Please mention this paper.

FUTURE OF BOERS.

Gen. Viljoen Considers British Pacification Efforts So Far a Failure.

Prospects for the rehabilitation of the Boer country are very poor, according to the reports brought to New York recently by General Ben J. Viljoen, one of the Transvaal leaders in the fight with Great Britain, who was a passenger on the Umbria. He hopes to engage in agricultural interests in Mexico, for his home is wrecked, and many of the people of his native land are unable to recover from the effects of the war which devastated their lands.

"As the war is all over there remains nothing to be done but to make the best of a bad job," said the general. "I believe the British government is making an honest effort to restore the Transvaal and the Orange Free State to their former prosperity, but it is handicapped to a large extent by the fact that many of the men assigned to the task are not fitted for the work.

"The Boers are trying to make the best of the situation, but in many cases their efforts to be friendly are repulsed. On my voyage from the Cape to England I met several British officers, who did everything they could to show their contempt and dislike for me. I do not care for such things on my own account, but I think the English should do all in their power to reconcile a conquered nation.

"Many of the Boers never will be reestablished in their homes, and hundreds have wandered off and have become lost. There was a plan to settle many of them in Chihuahua, Mexico, where a concession of 85,000 acres had been given. There are now four families down there. The Mexican government promised to furnish transportation to fifty, but it has not done so and has constantly postponed fulfilling its obligation. I shall go to Mexico soon to look after a tract of 2,000,000 acres in the same state which has been offered on more favorable conditions, and probably a large colony of Boers will settle there. I shall make my home there."

HOAR'S CHAMPIONSHIP OF A FRIEND

Why the Massachusetts Senator Wouldn't Shake Hands With Editor Harvey Scott—How an Ohio Author Relieved the President's Anxiety as to Motive For His Call—One of Vest's Stories.

Senator John H. Mitchell of Oregon and Editor Harvey Scott of the Portland Oregonian got on the senate elevator in the subbasement recently, says the Washington correspondent of the New York World. When they reached the basement floor, Senator George F. Hoar of Massachusetts entered. Senator Mitchell introduced Mr. Scott to Senator Hoar in a pretty little speech.

Mr. Scott put out his hand to shake hands. Senator Hoar put his hands behind his back. Both Scott and Mitchell were much surprised and looked inquiringly at Senator Hoar, who said:

"You notice I did not shake hands with you."

"Yes," Scott replied. "And why?"

"Because of something you printed years ago in your paper concerning my friend, the late Senator Morrill of Vermont."

"What was it?" asked Scott.

"Your paper said that Senator Morrill was staying alive merely to save funeral expenses."

Scott didn't know whether to laugh or get indignant. He said:

"Of course that statement may have been printed in my paper, but I have no recollection of it. I had a man from Vermont working on the paper once, and he may have written it, but I do not remember it."

"You are responsible for what appears in your paper, are you not?" inquired Senator Hoar very seriously.

"Yes, sir," Scott replied emphatically.

"Well, sir, then I shall not shake hands with you."

"Very well," said Scott. "I shall turn my back on you."

He did, and the elevator went up in an atmosphere so cold that frost gathered on the bronze work.

An Ohio statesman recently took an Ohio author, by name Howard Saxby, to see the president. The president was preoccupied that morning. He looked at Saxby after a couple of "de-lighteds," with a cold and inquiring eye.

"Don't worry, Mr. President," said Saxby. "I don't want an office, and I have my luncheon in my pocket."

They were talking of a point in grammar in the Democratic cloakroom of the senate the other afternoon, and the discussion reminded Senator Berry of one of Senator Vest's stories.

"Two men," Vest used to say, "were riding along in a sparsely settled country arguing on a point in grammar. They contended strenuously, and for a time it looked as if the argument would end in a fist fight. Finally they saw a man coming toward them.

"'Here,' said one of the disputants, 'let's leave it to this man coming up the road. He will settle it, and that is better than fighting about it all the afternoon.'

"The other man agreed. As the stranger rode up one of the wranglers hailed him, saying:

"'My friend, are you a grammarian?'

"'No,' said the man. 'I'm a Missourian.'"

And that reminded Senator Bacon of the quadroon who went into a restaurant in a southern city where they did not serve food to people with any negro blood in their veins. This man was almost white and looked like a Caucasian. There was some suspicion, however, and the manager of the restaurant went over to him and said:

"My friend, you are colored. You are a negro."

"Not me," protested the quadroon, seeing what was coming. "I admit I am a little dark, but I am a Malay, not a negro.

"A Malay?" said the restaurant manager, nonplused. "What's a Malay?"

"Why," replied the man, "I was born in Malaria."

Leader Charles F. Murphy of Tammany Hall took Phil Donohoe, president of the Anawanda club of New York, severely to task the other day in Washington for being up so early in the morning. When Mr. Murphy found Mr. Donohoe, he was standing watching the hodcarriers at work on the new building being erected between Senator Depew's home and the Army and Navy club.

"What are you doing here anyway, Phil?" asked the Tammany leader.

"Oh, I got so tired of these au gratins, demitasses and finger bowls that I began to feel like a Citizens' Union man," answered Donohoe, "and I came out here to watch the hodcarriers to make sure I'm still a Democrat."

A Forecast of the New Year.

Like giants eager for the race
Our English nations are.
O New Year, let thy record trace
In peace their fortunes' star.

For petty spite nor lust of gain,
Loose hand now clasped in hand
Whose commerce covers every main,
Advancing every land.

Brothers and sons o'er all the world,
One tongue—today one speech—
War's flag shall be the last unfurled,
Love's flag the first for each.

CONDITION OF CO-EDS.

Young Woman of Chicago University Tells of Troubles In Verse.

Young women students at the University of Chicago have been segregated by President Harper and have practically all their recitations in a low brick building at the southeast corner of the campus just behind President Harper's house, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

The young women lament the segregation, for they feel they are not given equal privileges with the men. One of the "segs" wrote a poem for the Monthly Maroon, the students' literary magazine, telling in meter the sad condition of the co-eds. The young lady refused to divulge her name even to the editor of the magazine, but here is the poem:

"The world is for the men, lass,"
Said mother long ago,
And since I've come to college,
Alack, I think it's so.

The lass is here, the lass is there,
The lass is everywhere,
But put her just where she belongs,
And there's nae room to spare.

The gridiron is for men, lass;
You're nae sae strong and stout
That you can buck and tackle
And punt and make us shout.

The new gym is for men, lass;
The chance to dive and swim,
To race, to box, to punch the bag,
To fence, are a' for him.

The Reynolds club's for him, lass,
And does it no seem hard
To hear them bowl and use the cue
And ken the door is barred?

Hitchcock is for the men, lass;
Its splendor and its style
Are nae for you. The Commons, too;
I' faith, it makes me smile.

And what is left for you, lass,
Beneath the shining blue,
From Midway to the bleachers,
My lass, what's left for you?

Oh, there's a spot for us, lads,
Behind the barn of "Prex,"
A stately, comely, noble hall,
Our beautiful old "Lex."

So endeth the first chapter.

FRESHMAN'S INGENUITY.

Stole to "Freshie" Dinner In His Sister's Dress and Furs.

Wearing his pretty sister's clothes, furs and concealing veils, Walter E. Roberts, a member of the freshman class of the New York university, eluded the guard of sophomores sent to kidnap him and reached the Marlborough hotel in New York in safety the other night, where he formed one of the forty-eight "freshies" at their first annual class dinner, says the New York American.

Many attempts were made by the sophomores to prevent the freshmen of the class of 1907 reaching the hotel, as a freshman dinner is not permitted by the sophs. All the members of the class were present, however, although all of them had narrow escapes and thrilling adventures. Roberts, however, showed the greatest ingenuity in evading the kidnaping band sent after him.

The sophomores learned of the freshman dinner at 2 o'clock the day before and at once started out to prevent the freshmen attending. Roberts had gone to his home in Mount Vernon before he could be warned that the sophs were after him. A telephone message was sent for him, however, and, knowing that a guard was waiting to capture him, he resorted to subterfuge.

Being slight of figure, he borrowed a tailor made gown from his sister, clambered into her long automobile coat, pinned and tied on one of her big picture hats, with two thick veils, and slipped her furs about his neck and sallied forth. Six sophomores waited at the station at Mount Vernon for him, and he passed them unsuspected.

He was received with much popular acclaim when he tripped into the banquet hall at the Marlborough and joined his fellow freshmen.

MECHANIC'S ZERO SWIMS.

Triweekly Diversion of Collingwood (O.) Man In Lake Erie.

Fred Bleibtren, a young mechanic of 26 Mabel street, Collingwood, near Cleveland, O., is right at home in the icy waters of Lake Erie with the thermometer hovering around the zero mark, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Bleibtren walked out to Euclid Beach the other day while the wind was slashing off Lake Erie keen as a razor. Attired simply in bathing trunks, he walked barefooted to the lake and plunged in. Down he dived and up again, floated, swam and then out upon the beach, only to dive again in the zero liquid.

He dressed without taking a rub. There was never a quiver to show that he was cold from exposure. His flesh was firm, and the exercise and cold water had turned it pink.

"I take a plunge and a swim in the lake about three times a week in winter," the swimmer said. "If I cannot break through the ice I swim in the snow, but I prefer the water. It's great."

No More Pennies For a Time.

According to advices from the treasury department, the government mill at Philadelphia will cease to grind out pennies for a time, there being now a surplusage of this kind of currency in the United States. During the last five years 3,000,000,000,393 pennies have been shipped from the Philadelphia mint, which is the only one that coins the one cent pieces, to various parts of the country, says Leslie's Weekly. Between July 1, 1902, and June 1, 1903, 89,000,000 cents were coined. If this five year output were collected in a heap, it would make a sizeable stage mountain at least.

NOVEL SOCIAL FUNCTION.

Oriental Splendor Witnessed at a Society Woman's Dinner.

Mystery surrounding the identity of the three young women in whose honor Mrs. W. D. Warrina, a wealthy society woman of Quebec, gave a Celestial dinner at the Hotel Gregorian in New York the other night. The three young women recently returned from a long sojourn in the orient on their father's yacht, and they wore the beautiful, soft, flowing robes of the land of the Celestials, says the New York American.

An antithesis of the "stag" dinner was the affair, for there were twelve women, including the hostess. In soft yellow light, amid huge, waving yellow chrysanthemums, yellow draperies, divans and other decorations, waiters in yellow weskets served soup of yellow split peas, yellow perch, yellow legged snipe, yellow label champagne, yellow chartreuse and other delicious viands and refreshments of yellow hue.

Yellow was the color of the menu card, and pictured on the front were three beautiful girls in yellow water colors, symbolical of the guests of honor. Miniature "Chinks," with rolly poly eyes in yellow papier mache boxes and ticketed with laundry checks, were the souvenirs.

Weird oriental music, such as is heard in New York only in the Chinese theaters, filled the room while the guests were dining. At intervals the women all joined in a quaint Chinese chant.

ENGLAND AMAZES RED MAN

Indian Traveler Tells of Ignorance About His Race Existing Abroad.

An Indian stopped in Philadelphia recently on his way to Omaha, Neb. He had been to London, participating in a wild west melodrama there, and it was amusing to hear him describe the ignorance regarding his race that exists abroad.

"An Englishman," he said, "thinks that a red man can run from 200 to 225 miles a day without effort. He thinks an Apache can overtake a deer. In fact, I read in London a short story describing how in a fifteen mile run an Apache caught a deer, choked it to death and ate its heart raw.

"The English believe that an Indian is so generous he would give away the clothes on his back. I was accosted by hosts of beggars in London, and they couldn't understand why I didn't hand out a half crown to each of them. They also think an Indian will endure the severest pain without flinching out of pride. A young English girl stuck a pin in my leg at a restaurant one night and was surprised when I said 'Ouch!' and swore."

Rock Salt to Stay Fugitive Convicts.

Long barreled shotguns loaded with lead and rock salt will be supplied workhouse guards at Toledo, O., in the future to enable them to intimidate prisoners who desire to escape, says the Chicago Record-Herald. The guards have instructions to use both barrels and not stop until the fugitive has been well salted.

A Great Car Ferry.

The new Grand Trunk railway car ferry which will run between Grand Haven, Mich., and Milwaukee, Wis., is one of the largest and fastest ferries in the United States. It is 315 feet long, 54 feet beam and is moved along at 17 miles an hour by 4,000 horse power engines. It will carry twenty-three 30 ton cars. It will also have 32 state rooms for passengers.

CORRESPONDENCE

PORT MATILDA.

We are having very cold weather and very little snow.

Mr. A. R. Woodring who has been sick for a couple of weeks is improving. He is able to be out occasionally.

Our United Brethren Minister hooked up his horse Sunday morning and started for Black Oak Chapel and while driving through town his horse fell and threw him out of his buggy. Neither of them were hurt very much.

Mr Robert Robinson and family from Oak Grove have come home to spend Christmas with their parents Mrs. Bell Woodring and W. A. Robinson.

Wilbur, Chester, Hutch, Sammy and Charley, started for Altoona on Saturday to get their best girl a Christmas present and they missed the train and did not get home until Sunday morning.

Quite a big wreck occurred on the East End of the passing siding about one mile east of the R. R. Station some of our people got lots of macaroni and rice that was from broken boxes.

Mr A. S. Price who has started wagon making and repairing is getting all the work he can do. He is a good workman in wood.

Mr. Addie Smith and daughter from Clearfield county, gave a very nice entertainment in the Baptist church Friday evening consisting of songs and recitations. It was very largely attended. Proceeds for the benefit of the church.

Some time while hunting season was in, Mr. Jacob Mayer, of this place, shot and killed a very large wild cat. This is a great sight for a great many people who never saw one before.

RUNVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Wagner of Altoona are visiting friends and relatives here.

Preaching at the U. B. Church next Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Second Quarterly Conference of Runville charge will convene at Fairview church Jan 7 at 2 p. m.

Mrs. Rachel Taylor, widow of John Taylor, died on the 19th, at the home of Elias Hancock where she had made her home the last three years. The subject of this sketch was born in Elk county, but lived several years in Centre Co. Prior to her marriage when she was about twenty years old she went back to Elk county, there she married John Taylor, who preceded her to the grave about twenty-five years ago, she was a member of the M. E. Church for about thirty-five years. She was aged 71 yrs. 1 month, and 4 days, her funeral took place on the 22nd, at the home of Elias Hancock Services were conducted by Rev. D. A Sparks. Mrs. I. W. Wert visited at the home of her parents on Monday.

Sarah McWilliams visited at the home of R. G. Goheen on Tuesday.

Joseph Hess went to Altoona to spend Christmas with relatives and friends.

Christmas turkeys were few and far between. Many have been shipped away.

Sumner Miller and two sisters, Gertie and Maud, visited at the home of C. B. Hess on Tuesday.

Frank Woomer visited at the home of William VanTries at Rock Springs, from Friday until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gates celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Saturday, December 19 They received a lot of nice presents. We wish them a long and happy life.

SNOW SHOE.

Snow? Well yes, a little.

Some long-needed changes are being made in the interior of the Penna R. R. depot.

J. Blair Yarnell is home for the holidays and in the meantime is acting as Asst. Postmaster General.

When we last heard from Clay Hall who is in the Bellefonte Hospital the doctors could not yet tell whether they could save his leg or not but they are making a desperate effort to do so.

The elder Mr. Budinger is spending the holidays with his son T. B. Budinger. He seems to look just as well as he did last year at this time.

Scott Walker who has been working in Thompson's store for the last five or six years has applied for a "brakemanship" on the Pennsylvania Railroad.

"Windy" Lucas, son of Jesse G. Lucas a veteran of the Civil War, and former apprentice in the Jno. Eisele Painting & Paper Hanging Establishment is home for the holidays.

Martin Leisenring, who has been away over Christmas returned on Monday evening and at the depot some mischievous boys peeped into his suit-case and found a miniature keg of sauerkraut in each end while the intervening space was filled with pretzles. Can anyone guess where he had been?

Mr. Chas. H. Watson, "miner and Shipper of Bituminous Coal and Local Dealer in lump and slack" finds business so brisk at his operations that it has become necessary for him to engage the services of Charley McLaughlin as manager of his plant. This will relieve Mr. Watson of much of the detail work with which he has heretofore been encumbered.

Messrs Keck: We have been requested by a prominent patrons of hot air to welcome you back to the ranks. This we beg leave to do with due form and fitting ceremony, although we observe that it is really unnecessary as you immediately on your return took your old place among your comrades. It is to be hoped you will not feel an undue sense of pride when you are informed that the Hot Air stock went up twenty-seven points the week of your return.

Prof. H. M. Gates, Orator, Poet, Railroader, Business Man, Student, and Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the Hot Air Club, returned to spend Christmas with the Club He was entertained at the hospitable board of Gen'l Distributing Agent Gilliland. He (Prof. Gates) has not yet been able to secure any orders for Sickel's Patent Producer although he says most people after hearing him talk, take kindly to it and think it would be a vast improvement over being compelled to take the handmade article which Mr. Gates uses in his demonstrations, for, by having the machine to produce the Hot Air the consumer would be enabled to limit or if desired, to entirely stop the production by the manipulation of a simple set of levers.

FOUNTAIN PEN PERFECTION

The Quaker City Self-Filling Fountain Pen fills itself and thereby fills a long-felt want

Free Press.

Any reliable time saver is eagerly welcomed by the modern business man. Probably the most forceful illustration of this condition of things in recent years was the enthusiasm with which the fountain pen was greeted. It seemed to mean the saving of so much time and annoyance for so many people that its sale was simply phenominal.

But the fountainpen was not by any means perfect and its users soon discovered that the bother was only concentrated, instead of being dispensed with. The finest fountain pen would write indifferently well as long as there was ink it but, when that gave out our busy man had to stop, unscrew an inky cap, hunt around for a filler and the particular ink recommended by the manufacturers of that particular pen and so on through a long process of annoyance.

The manufactures of the Quaker City Self-Filling Fountain Pen have overcome all this bother and product a practical writing tool which is as easy to use as if one were simply writing with the filler needed for the old pen. There is nothing to unscrew, nothing to squirt, nothing to lose or get out of order. Its construction is simple and substantial and the operation of filling it so simple that you wonder nobody thought of before.

It is merely necessary to dip the pen pressing it slightly, lift up as usual and go on writing. Its capacity is on less than the bothersome kind.

We feel that we are not over praising the Quaker City Self-Filling Fountain Pen when we say that it represents the acme of fountain pen achievement.

Only fountain pen that never spills ink, never inks the fingers, needs no filler, can be filled from any inkwell, anywhere! Greatest gift of the year, for business men, students, school chidren—all who use a pen!

A GREAT GIFT

Costs $1.00.

Looks as well and works far better than any high-priced pen on the market. Doesen't get out of order, doesn't write by fits and starts. Built simply and well, lasts long and writes perfectly all the time.

CHRISTMAS IN BUSINESS LIFE

Custom of Merchants and Bankers Who Reward Employees.

MUCH MONEY IS DISTRIBUTED.

Last Year a Department Store Owner Spent $8,000 In Giving Each of His Wagon Drivers $50—How One Commission House Rewards Its Clerks—Lament of a Bank Clerk Who Received a Present of Steel Stock.

The following is taken from an article on the observance of Christmas in business circles by Ralph D. Paine in the World's Work for December:

Last year the owner of one of the largest department stores in the country expanded his customary system of rewards by giving $50 to each of the drivers of his delivery wagons. There were 150 of them, and they received $8,000. They were paid for their overtime, but their work was so uncommonly arduous that they deserved something more, and it came to them as a surprise. In the height of the rush the wagons were delivering from 40,000 to 50,000 packages daily. On the day before Christmas 100,000 patrons visited the store, and it was promised that all purchases, including pianos, made before 6 o'clock at night should be delivered at their homes before breakfast Christmas morning. This immense undertaking was accomplished, and it was loyalty as well as wages that inspired these drivers to make good the promise of their employer. To them the extra fifty dollar checks came as wealth unforeseen and were accepted in the true spirit of Christmas. The Christmas spirit was in this transaction, although the employer was paying for value received, and this year he will similarly surprise some other column of his vast army of industry.

This proprietor has on his payrolls during Christmas time more than 11,000 employees, and a system is in operation whereby the majority of them receive extra money in the holiday season. It is in payment of extra services, yet it is so distributed that the Christmas spirit is not wholly obliterated. For ten days the store is kept open until 10 o'clock in the evening, and for this work after regular hours the salespeople receive a commission on their sales instead of fixed wages for overtime. Last year saleswomen made as much as $50, $75 and $100 on these holiday commissions.

One New York merchant has for many years presided over a Christmas gathering of his entire force. The custom, begun when less than 100 guests were eligible, is maintained now when 1,000 employees, from managers to cash boys, meet on equal footing for one night of the year and listen to the sincere greeting and recognition of loyal service which are spoken by the proprietor as the head of the table. This traditional observance has done much to inspire in this force a notable esprit de corps. It is a genuine Christmas festival.

In the words of a humble toiler of the house: "It doesn't help pay my bills and it doesn't raise my wages, but the dinner is the real thing, for to hear the old man talk of his start as an errand boy in a country store and how he fought his way up to the top makes him one of us. And when we wish him 'Merry Christmas,' a thousand strong, a good many of us mean it, and I think he does when he shouts it back."

In one commission house, whose history is a part of the coffee trade for four generations, the present partners are two brothers, both bachelors, who have added wealth to inherited fortunes. It has been their custom since they succeeded in control of the house to present each of their clerks with a Christmas gift, sometimes equal to half his yearly salary. The amounts are not fixed, however, and unlike most rewards of this kind the partners take into account not only the services rendered, but also the personal needs of the recipient. In other words, the friendly interest is not bounded by the office walls, and the brothers find a quiet pleasure in investigating the conditions which please or worry the young men who work for them. One of them who told me this story said:

"If one of the office staff is single and is able to live comfortably on his salary he may get $500 for Christmas, while a young fellow who was threatening matrimony last year was handed a check for $1,500, and an old gray haired clerk who is supporting a sister and a half dozen of her children and has other relatives hanging on his coattails got $1,000 when his salary is only $1,800, which is all he is worth to the firm. Of course, good work and loyalty are counted in, and it's a system of reward and merit, but it is finely tempered with human interest." These gifts are distributed with a formal courtesy and a personal greeting that make of this office the reception room of a host and his guests for a brief time on the day before Christmas.

Wall street is lavish in its gifts when the stock market is free with its favors, and last year made a high water mark for this form of distribution. A conservative estimate is that bankers and brokers gave away $1,000,000 in rewards to employees, and in the Stock Exchange $10,000 was raised for its working force. These gifts included $5,000 gold certificates in one house and an entire year's salary to employees of [illegible] erosity has its flaw, as shown by the lament of one favored bank clerk:

"It was a wonderful Christmas last year. I received a whole year's salary, and I had been with the firm only one year, and I was so happy when I went home that I did not bother to criticise the fact that the salary was in Steel stock at the market rate. My wife and I were beside ourselves planning a country cottage, the dream of our lives, and of course when Steel began to 'slump' we held on and hoped for an upward turn and are still holding on. My Christmas present has shrunk, and our dream is smashed, and all I ask of Kriss Kringle this year is that he will restore my last year's present to its original size."

In the same institution there was an employee whose Christmas gift had the saving grace of individual consideration. He was a bookkeeper, nearly forty years in harness, and he had been overlooked in former years of fatness in Wall street, except for a customary and unvarying ten dollar gold piece. Several days before Christmas last year the office became agitated with rumors of an unprecedented flood of good fortune. The old bookkeeper tried to keep calm, but his hopes ran riot, and the day before Christmas found him in a nervous flurry. He saw his fellow employees called into the cashier's office one by one, each returning with a sealed envelope. The bookkeeper waited for his summons, but it came not. Even the office boys emerged biting new gold pieces to test them, and the roll was complete an hour before the bookkeeper summoned courage to send in an inquiry whether a mistake had been made in the case of Mr. Blank and whether an envelope had been overlooked. The answer was:

"There is no envelope for Mr. Blank, but the president wishes to see him for a moment."

The bookkeeper saw only one interpretation. This meant his discharge for failing efficiency. He fairly tottered into the sanctum, a pitiful figure of panic fear.

"Sit down, Mr. Blank," said the president. "I have omitted your name in the list of Christmas rewards for faithful service, and I regret that the bank will have to find another man to fill your position after tomorrow. Compose yourself, sir; tears are undignified in this office. You should know better after being here for so long a term of service. Don't go. I have a few words more to say before you leave. The directors have decided to retire you on full pay for the rest of your life, and the year's salary will be paid you in advance. This does not establish a ruinous precedent, for employees with thirty-eight years of faithful service to their credit are not sprinkled very plentifully through Wall street."

CYCLONE CELLARS.

Illinois Farmers Build Places of Refuge and School Children Drill.

No more will the Illinois farmers poke fun at Kansas and Nebraska on account of the custom of those states of providing themselves with cyclone cellars, says a Mendota (Ill.) dispatch to the Chicago Record-Herald.

The farmers of Bureau county, in several localities at least, have been busy all fall building the most modern structure of this kind on record. The fury of the storms that visited that locality last summer is still fresh in the minds of everybody, and some of the farmers are picking up cyclone drift yet.

Not long ago a schoolteacher at Davis Junction, fearing for the safety of her flock of pupils, had one of these handy contrivances built, the farmer directors being easy to convince that the thing was needed, and every now and then the teacher has a cyclone drill, in which the whole school suddenly leaves the building and takes to the adjoining hole in the ground.

A Suppressed Tennyson Poem.

In Harper's Magazine for December J. C. Thomson has collected a large number of Tennyson's suppressed poems, some of surprising beauty. Of the one quoted below and referring directly to America Mr. Thomson rightly asks, "What reason can Tennyson have had for suppressing such stanzas as these:

Gigantic daughter of the west,
We drink to thee across the flood;
We know thee most, we love thee best,
For art thou not of British blood?

Should war's mad blast again be blown,
Permit not thou the tyrant powers
To fight thy mother here alone,
But let thy broadsides roar with ours.

Oh, rise, our strong Atlantic sons,
When war against our freedom springs!
Oh, speak to Europe through your guns!
They can be understood by kings.

Fads In Men's Clothes.

The London tailors are doing everything they can to induce their customers to use colored material for evening clothes, says the New York World. Shades of blue, green, crimson and plum, which look well by artificial light, and browns are worn. Yet few men have the courage to identify themselves with the innovation, which has a tendency to make them look like flunkies. Tight waisted, double breasted overcoats with bold lapels are being worn by dressy Londoners, chiefly in gray. The craze for "loud," fancy waistcoats continues.

Knew What a Bay Was.

One day a little girl in the fifth grade came home from school and told her mother she knew all about peninsulas, harbors, islands, etc.

"Well," said mother, "tell me what a bay is." The child could not answer this, and her little brother said:

"Why, don't you know what a bay is? A bay is a red horse."

THRILLING EXPERIENCE!

Passengers Tell of Happenings During a Hurricane.

A WAVE SIXTY FEET HIGH

Struck the Vessel—She Was Thrown on Her Beam End and Came With Such Force as to Disable Her.

DRIFTED 5 DAY'S AT STORMS MERCY

NEW YORK, December 26.—A number of the passengers who were on the Atlantic transport steamer Menominee, bound for this port when she was struck by a hurricane December 7 and disabled so that she drifted at the mercy of the storm for five days, arrived here Friday on the Cedric. They told a thrilling story of their experience.

The Menominee left London December 3. Four days later she ran into a terrific gale and a huge wave, which the ship's officers said was sixty feet high, struck the ship throwing her on her beam ends. It came with such force as to crush in the heavy head lights in the cabin ports on the starboard side and the state rooms were flooded. Most of the passengers were in bed and were thrown from their berths with bedding, baggage and everything movable on top of them.

When the ship righted itself it was found that her rudder post had been snapped off, leaving the steering gear disabled and the ship helpless. One sailor was caught in the backwash of the wave and dashed against the bulwarks, receiving injuries from which he died an hour later.

Three other seamen were seriously injured by waves which broke over the ship while they were trying to make repairs to the shattered steering gear, and it became necessary to lock the passengers in the cabin. Oil was used to still the waves, but with little effect. For five days the ship rolled in the trough of the sea.

Finally at noon on the fifth day a temporary steering gear was rigged and the ship limped back to Falmouth, where the passengers were sent to Liverpool and such of them as chose were sent to New York on the Cedric.

BUFFALO, December 26.—Nine persons suffering from smallpox were taken to the quarantine hospital Friday. Six of the cases were discovered at a dance hall in Broadway, where a large number of persons were exposed to infection.

The health authorities are working hard to stamp out the disease.

Two buildings have been quarantined and placed under a strong police guard.

GOOD FOR CHILDREN

The pleasant to take and harmless One Minute Cough Cure gives immediate relief in all cases of Cough, Croup and LaGrippe because it does not pass immediately into the stomach, but takes effect at the seat of the trouble. It draws out the inflammation, heals and soothes and cures permanently by enabling the lungs to contribute pure life-giving and life-sustaining oxygen to the blood and tissues. Dr. Armstrong of Delia, Texas, prescribes it daily and says there is no better cough remedy made. Sold by F. P. Green.

CANNON AS SPEAKER.

His Stand For the Dignity of the House Against the Senate.

Not since Thomas B. Reed's first appearance as speaker has the house of representatives had in that office a man of such vigorous individuality as Mr. Joseph G. Cannon, says the New York Post's special Washington correspondent. His personality is so distinctly his own, except so far as it belongs to an earlier western type now little seen in Washington, that it has been widely pictured in current publications and apparently affords material for constant comment. Other speakers of the house have regularly used somewhat stilted phrases in their requests for order, such as "Cease conversation" and "Retire to the cloakroom," when they have really meant in the vernacular "Keep quiet." Mr. Cannon is restoring the idiom as fast as possible. When he gets awakened in making a ruling to the house, he drops the gavel from his left hand, reverting to an upraised forefinger with which to lay down the law, after a manner long familiar to the house. Every time he drops the gavel the house applauds, for its members know that he is about to say something too vigorous for the conventional weapon of his office.

When some Chicago callers were recently trying to get him to speak at a dinner in the near future, he answered that he could not speak. They replied that it took Mr. Hinds, the clerk at the speaker's table, and several other coachers busy to keep him from making a speech half of the time in the house. There was a modicum of truth in this retort.

Mr. Cannon, unlike his predecessors, does not bow profoundly to the secretary of the senate when that functionary comes into the house to make announcement of the senate's action. The story is told that when the new speaker's coaches informed him that he must make a great bow he answered that he did not bow to the United States senate, and he would not bow to any of its secretaries.

CENSOR OF HAND ORGANS.

Hartford's Police Board Calls Upon Chief Ryan to Say What Is Music.

Chief of Police Ryan of Hartford, Conn., has been declared by the board of police commissioners to be the city's musical censor, and it will be up to him in the future to decide when a street organ is an instrument disseminating harmony and when it is a nuisance, says the Hartford Post. There are people who hold that a street organ is at all times a nuisance and at no time disseminates sweet harmony, but the commissioners came to the conclusion that they did have rights on the streets, and they put it up to Chief Ryan to decide when they exceed those rights.

The matter came up in the form of a complaint from C. F. Sweet, a dealer in oils, who wrote that one of the organs ground out distressing strains near his place of business for over an hour and that when he remonstrated the grinder told him to go to that locality where organ grinders have been mentally consigned by thousands ever since they first came into existence. Mr. Sweet went to the police station instead, but was unable to obtain satisfaction.

After considering this complaint the commissioners decided that there were times when an organ was a nuisance and placed the matter in Chief Ryan's hands, as previously stated. Naturally the chief will have to hear the music before he can decide the question, and consequently concerts may be looked for daily at the police station. An organ grinder complained of as a nuisance will presumably be hauled to the police station, and there Chief Ryan will give him or his organ a hearing. If the culprit plays "Why Did They Sell Killarney?" or something of that sort he will probably stand a fairly good show of having his efforts considered music, but if he ever strikes up "Hiawatha" or similar selections he will in all probability be adjudged a nuisance on the spot and be locked up in the dungeon.

A New Kansas Grass Fiber.

R. T. Whitesell and Henry Light, farmers of Illinois township, Kan., found a kind of grass growing along the Ninnescah river which has a very strong fiber, similar in many respects to sisal, says a Wellington (Kan.) dispatch to the Kansas City Star. Samples of the grass have been sent to the state penitentiary at Lansing for examination to see if it could be used to make binding twine. This grass is said to be new along the river bottoms, but grows luxuriantly, and it is believed it could be cultivated.

Export and Import Figures.

It is estimated by the treasury department that the exports of the United States for the current year will reach the great total of $1,500,000,000. The imports will be about $1,000,000,000, half of it raw material for manufactures.

A MARINE MUSEUM.

Wealthy Men of San Diego to Found Scientific Institute For California.

The University of California is about to receive a valuable gift from the citizens of San Diego, Cal., in the form of a marine biological laboratory equipped and endowed with sufficient funds to keep a corps of scientists at work all the time, says a San Francisco special to the St. Louis Republic.

The decision of the San Diegans to found such an institution is the result of the work of Professor W. E. Ritter, who spent last summer on San Diego bay and conducted the summer school there, the expenses being footed by the people of San Diego.

The San Diegans recently formed an organization to be known as the Marine Biological association. Its purpose is stated to be to found and endow the San Diego Marine Biological institution, the objects of which, according to the preamble to the bylaws, will consist in "carrying on a biological and hydrographic survey of the waters of the Pacific ocean adjacent to the coast of southern California, to build and maintain a public aquarium and museum and to prosecute such other kindred undertakings as may be deemed wise."

After the institute is founded and sufficiently endowed it will be transferred to the University of California, so that it may become a department of the university, co-ordinate with existing departments.

Professor Ritter is to be director of the institute. In explaining the needs of such an institute to the people he said that the southern coast was rich in marine life and a good field for exploration. He urged the founding of an institute that would prosecute its researches continuously through salaried investigators, not by individuals who work according to their resources.

The members of the San Diego association are men of means, and they are expected to subscribe a fund large enough to yield $10,000 a year, which, it is estimated, the institute will cost. The officers of the association are: President, Homer H. Peters; vice president, Miss Ellen Scripps; secretary, Dr. Frederick Baker; treasurer, Julius Wangenheim; directors, E. W. Scripps and James MacMullin.

Council Chamber a Bedroom.

When the members of the town council of Hanover, Pa., entered the council chamber the other night to hold an adjourned meeting they were surprised to find that their former meeting place had been converted into a bedroom, says the Philadelphia Press. The fire company at the last meeting had suggested the council chamber as the most convenient place for the drivers to sleep and, receiving no answer, refurnished the room.

—We had a green Christmas but nevertheless enjoyable. Snow however began to fall last night and the ground is covered several inches with the beautiful.

—Two gambling dens in Altoona were raided by the police Thursday night and twenty persons with a wagon load of paraphernalia captured. Fines and bail for appearance at hearings were produced and the gangs were then let loose.

—Paul, the four year old son of Jerry Lutz, a farmer living below town on the Jacksonville road, died Christmas eve after a brief illness from membraneous croup. The funeral took place on Sunday.

Many a Bellefonte Citizen Finds the Struggle Hard.

With a back constantly aching,
With distressing urinary disorders,
Daily existence is but a struggle.
No need to keep it up.
Doan's Kidney Pills will cure you.
Bellefonte people indorse this claim.

Mr. B. H. Shaffer, of Howard street, tinsmith, says: "I had backache, a lameness just over hips and when I took cold there was always difficulty with the kidney secretions. The lameness in my loins was very inconvenient for I could not move quickly without having sharp twinges through me and if bending forward I could hardly straighten. I learned about Doan's Kidney Pills procured them from F. Potts Green's drug store and took them. They banished the pain and lameness."

A TERRIBLE WRECK!

Sixty-three Dead in Railroad Accident on B & O

Meagre Details of Disaster

Broken Timbers from a Passing Freight Train Fell in Front of the Passenger Train and it Was Thrown from Track.

OCCURRED NEAR CONNELLSVILLE.

CONNELLSVILLE, December 24.—With a terrible crash and a grinding noise the Duquesne Limited, the fastest through passenger train from Pittsburg to New York on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad ploughed into a pile of lumber at Laurel Run, two miles west of Dawson, at 7:45 o'clock Wednesday evening, and it is estimated that fully sixty-three lives were lost and thirty persons were injured.

The train left Pittsburg Wednesday evening, running a few minutes late, in charge of Engineer William Thomley, of Connellsville. When approaching Laurel Run, which is a particularly good piece of roadbed, the train was running at a high rate of speed. Suddenly the passengers were thrown from their seats by lightning-like application of the airbrakes, and a moment later there was a terrific crash.

CARS TORN TO PIECES.

Piled up of two baggage, two day coaches, one sleeper and one dining car, and was carrying at the time, at the lowest estimate, 150 passengers. The train ploughed along for a considerable distance and the cars were torn to pieces, passengers jumping, screaming failing from the wreck as it tore along.

Suddenly the engine swerved to the left and the coaches plunged down over the embankment to the edge of the Youghiogheny river. The minute the car stopped rolling there was a wild scene. Many were pinioned beneath the wreckage and the screams and cries that rent the air was beyond description. Many were injured in their mad excitement and plunged into the river.

Others pinioned beneath the heavy timbers pleaded in agonizing tones for release. So terrific was the force of the wreck that nearly every passenger suffered a moment's unconsciousness and many of the able-bodied men were unable to assist in helping the injured from the wreck on account of having fainted

The floral tributes from railroad men at Butler, a broken car wheel and a large pillow of roses, were very handsome.

A THOUSAND DOLLARS WORTH OF GOOD.

A. H. Thurnes, a well known coal operator of Buffalo, O., writes, "I have been afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones with excruciating pain. I got no relief from medicines until I began taking Foley's Kidney Cure, then the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust like fine stones and now I have no pain across my kidneys and I feel like a new man. It has done me a $1000 worth of good." C. M. Parrish.

Killed Large Eagle.

After a terrific struggle Warren Stackhouse, 14 years old, of Salem, N. J., Tuesday morning killed the largest eagle seen in that county for many years. The boy was out gunning near his home in Elsenboro, when he saw the eagle in the top of the tree and wounded it with a load of bird shot. In an instant the bird swooped down on him, and it was only by using his rifle as a club that Stackhouse was able to save himself from being killed. He finally managed to fire again and the bird fell dead. It measured nearly nine feet from tip to tip of its wings

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

Bei mir werd alles aufgenumme;
Wer kee Empfehlung weise kann,
Werd fortgeschickt, mei liewer Mann.

Du besser meldst Dich an beim Peter,
Zur rechte Hand am Hahptthor steht er.
Ich denk, er hot schun Platz for Dich,
Sei Kundschaft is nur kimmerlich."—

„Dort war ich jo, schun frieh am Morge,
Un hab gedenkt, ich wär geborge,
Doch bin ich schlecht ankumme dort,
Er schickt mich ohne Umständ fort.

‚En Drucker is en Schwerenöther,'
(Des sen die Worte vum Sant Peter,)
‚Un hast net in d'r Himmel rei,
Dozu muß Eener besser sei.'

Er segt, ich soll do runner kumme,
Do werd for schuhr ich ufgenumme,
Weil grad en Theel vum Deine Leit
An Streik gegange wäre heit."—

„En Drucker warst Du dort uf Erde?!—
Nee, Bruder, do kann nix draus werde.
Ich führ en dieientes Konzern
Un Leit, wie Dich, die halt ich fern.

Do is d'r Haus, d'r Tom, d'r Billis,
D'r Bensch, d'r Härrie un die Tillie,
Un viele hunnert anner Leit,
Was noch Subskribichen schulde heit.

Sag selbst—Du bischt doch net vun gester—
Un wär es gar Dei eegne Schwester,
Was Dich derweg betroge hät,
Du dätst se kicke, dätst Du net?

Juscht denk emol, was dät des gewe!
Was wär des dann for mich en Lebe!—
Ich mecht Dir gern den G'falle dhu,
Doch kann ich net, ich will mei Ruh!

Ich hab gung Leit for Rohstbief brote.
Nimm mei Adweis un loß Dir rothe:
Geh z'rick zum Peter, sag's wie's is,
Un Du wersht seh, er nemmt Dich g'wiß."—

Noch keene zeh Minute später,
Do steht d'r Drucker vor Sant Peter.
Der hot ersicht grotze Ahge g'macht,
Wie er den Mann vor sich betracht.

„Helloh," segt er. „Setz Dich mol nieder,
Was witt dann Du do howe wieder?
Ich hab doch gesaht, mei liewer Mann:
En Drucker ich net brauche kann.' "—

„Ich hab gedhu, wie Du befohle,
Wohr ist's, soll mich d'r Deiwel hole,
D'r Babs war seiwert vor seim Haus,
Doch denk Dir juscht, er lacht mich aus.

Er hot gesaht, daß ohne Zweifel
Ich denkt, er wär en dummer Deifel,
Doch wär so ebbes net d'r Fall,
Er wot mich net, un sell wär all.

En Haufe schlechter Unnerschreiwer,
Viel hunnert Männer un ah Weiwer,
Die wäre drin, un wann ich kämt,
D'r Rächet gar te End meh nähmt."—

Nau hot d'r Peter misse lache.
Er segt: „Ich denk, es loßt sich mache.
Kumm drusi zu mir in Himmel rei,
Do sen lee schlechte Zahler drei."

New Fuse For the Navy.

The navy department has recently placed a contract with a Pittsburg man for the manufacture of 50,000 fuses for shells, says the Philadelphia Press. This fuse, or exploding device, was invented and developed by J. B. Semple of Pittsburg. It is arranged so that the shell cannot be exploded by an accidental fall of even fifty feet, yet when fired from the gun the fuse becomes "armed" and is then so sensitive that the shell will burst on striking light resistance, such as a rope or the branch of a tree.

Ready For Thanksgiving.

There is a happy editor out in Nebraska, and this is the way in which he announces it, says the Chicago Inter Ocean:

No wife to fear, no money in the bank,
No tea to buy, no yelling kid to spank;
A free lunch counter always ready at my hand—
Say, ain't I dwelling in the promised land?

The Opera "Miss Bob White."

In each and every musical comedy of the day, there is some catchy song, sensational dance, particularly funny scene, brilliant book or something out of the common that will attract public attention and cause the theatrical tongue to wag. Any one of these accomplishments insure the success of a musical comedy, but what will the theatre going public at large say when in one comedy opera, Willard Spenser's "Miss Bob White," which has been secured for early presentation here, we find not only one but all the aforegoing virtues. Music, the superior of which has seldom been heard, with its delightful waltz movement and rhythmic swing, which sets every mouth a pucker, is hummed on the streets and played in every home. A good, clean, wholesome book, a plot that abounds in fun—not exaggerated nor mimicked nor caricatured fun, but good humor. The company a capable one, each part fitting its perpetrator like a proverbial glove. The dance and song hits "May We Come A-Wooing?" from which the "Florodora" sextette was taken—a scenic and costume revelation which help to make the Nixon & Zimmerman lavish production of the Spenser Opera, one of the most gorgeous attractions of the season and one that will live forever in the minds of all who witness its performance.

First Shot Fired in Great Campaign of 1904.

Monday evening Dec. 21, at a Banquet held by the Young American Republican Club at their rooms in the Bush House, Hon. Jno. G. Love delivered one of the best and most eloquent political speeches ever made in this section, his subject being "American Citizenship." He in the most forcible language possible pointed out to the boys the necessity and importance of being good citizens and to be good Republicans. He expressed himself as being most heartily in favor of the organizing of young men. All presents were simply delighted with the speech and acknowledged being very much benefitted by the able orators good wholesome advice.

Among the other prominent speakers of the evening were Col. Edward R. Chambers and Francis Speer. Col. Chambers complimented the members of the club for the great political interest shown. After the speaking oysters and all the good things of the season were served in excellent style and were enjoyed by everybody.

Later in the evening short speechs were made by almost every member of the club and the best of good feeling prevailed. If these young men will only work as energetically at the polls on election day as they did while devouring the good things set before them on the banquet table Republican success in this town is assured for sometime to come.

The committee in charge of the banquet and to whom great credit for the success of the event is due was composed of G. Edward Haupt, Isaac Thomas Jr., and Joe Gengher.

—At a cost of $27,000 a deal has been consummated whereby the Altoona school board has secured the valuable southeastern corner lot at Sixth avenue and Fifteenth street, Altoona. A large building, to cost $100,000 and to be used as an industrial department of the high school, will be erected there.

—The Christmas song service held in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening was a great treat and the only regret is that the audience was not larger. Master Fred Weaver presided at the organ and his playing drew forth praise on all sides. The choir was increased for the occasion and the anthems and solo's were unusually fine. Solo's were rendered by Miss Henrietta Butts, Miss Elsie Weaver and Mr. Henry Brown. Dr. Laurie gave an interesting talk on the birth of our Saviour.

—Leap year may give the girls courage.

BRIEF MENTION

—Mrs. Frank Warfield is confined to her home by illness.

—Col. Wilbur F. Reeder is seriously ill with pleurisy at his home on North Allegheny street.

—A lazy liver makes a lazy man. Burdock Blood Bitters is the natural, never failing remedy for a lazy liver.

—Mrs. C. T. Gerberich of North Thomas street is confined to the house by a bad attack of La Grippe.

—Don't be imposed upon by taking substitutes offered for Foley's Honey and Tar. C. M. Parrish.

—R S. Brouse, the enterprising grocer in the Bush Arcade block, has added a new safe to his store equipment.

—A kidney and bladder trouble can always be cured by using Foley's Kidney Cure in time. C. M. Parrish.

—A large number of teachers assembled at the Pennsylvania Railroad station Monday morning to take the 9:53 train for Philipsburg where the teachers institute is holding session this week.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup seems especially adapted to the needs of the children. Pleasant to take; soothing in its influence; it is the remedy of all remedies for every form of throat and lung disease.

—The Presbyterian Sunday school will hold their Christmas entertainment Friday evening at 7 o'clock sharp in the Chapel. An excellent program will be rendered and no doubt the attendance will be large.

—There will be a "Peanut Social" in the Y. M. C. A. Rooms Friday evening. The program will consist of something to eat, some music on mandolin, guitar and piano and some remarks. All young men under 80 years of age are invited.

—Company C. Fifth regiment, National Guard of Pennsylvania, stationed at Hollidaysburg, will hold an election for two new lieutenants on the evening of January 7, to fill vacancies caused by the resignations of Lieutenants Reed and Delozier.

—There will be a joint meeting of the Trustees and Directors of the Y. M. C. A. in the Rooms Thursday evening at 8 o'clock to complete plans for letting the contract for the improvements to be made on the Y. M. C. A., building on High Street.

—Easter Sunday always falls on the Sunday next following the first full moon on or after the 21st of March. Next year full moon falls on Thursday. March 31st, the first full moon after the 21st, hence the first Sunday after March 31st will be April 3rd, and that will be Easter Sunday.

—Lock Haven, our sister town, is rapidly forging to the front in an industrial way. The latest addition is to be knitting factory, incorporated with a capital of $10,000. Among the incorporators are Calvin Armstrong, W. H. Stevenson, John R. Stevenson, R. O Stevenson and Earl Hagadone.

—The Presbyterian Church at Tarentum, Pa., received 91 persons into membership in the church on a recent Sunday as a result of the meetings conducted by Rev. Charles Inglis, of London, England, who conducted meetings in Petrikin Hall here last winter. Other churches there also received large accessions as a result of his meetings.

—Manager Garman is pleased to announce that he has secured Nixon & Zimmerman's great attraction, the opera "Miss Bob White" for Tuesday evening January 19. This is a high priced company and it is hoped that the opera house may be crowded in order that Manager Garman may be encouraged to bring standard attractions to Bellefonte.

—Joseph Nolan and Miss Rebecca Gardiner, two popular young people of this city, slipped away quietly on Christmas day and were married at Emporium, Pa. Mr. Nolan is an industrious young man and a son of Jerry Nolan. He is employed at the Pennsylvania freight station here. The bride is a native of Virginia and is quite pretty and attractive. We wish them all the happiness and prosperity possible.

—A telegram to the Philadelphia Press from Huntingdon, under date of December 26, says: In an altercation in a restaurant here Friday night John Smith was struck over the head with a beer bottle. Smith wandered into a stable and Saturday morning he was found unconscious and about noon he died. Coroner Harman held an autopsy and the physicians found that Smith's death was caused by the blow on the head. George Sherrer was arrested and lodged in jail, charged with having struck the fatal blow. Smith was 25 years old and was the youngest son of Rev. M. L. Smith, a well known Methodist minister.

THE OLD RELIABLE

Absolutely Pure

THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE

A Pleasant Family Gathering at Home of Capt. W. H. Fry.

One of the pleasantest and most hospitable homes in Centre County is that of Capt. W. H. Fry, a few miles from Pine Grove Mills in Ferguson township, and on Christmas day it was cheerier than ever if such a thing is possible. On that day for the first time in years the entire family of Capt, Fry and wife, their children and grand children, gathered around the festive board in the old home and enjoyed an immense Christmas turkey with all the other things that go with it.

The children present were John, who resides at home; Milton of Altoona, who is an engineer on the Pennsylvania Railroad between Altoona and Pittsburg; William H., who is in the Wilmerding shops at Pittsburg; George B. McClellan and Frederick Reno, at home; Mrs. Mary Dale, of Lemont; Mrs. Thomas Mallory, of Altoona; Mrs. Wm. K. Goss, of Pennsylvania Furnace, and Belle at home.

There were twenty people sat down to the dinner, including friends and neighbors. An honored guests was John F. Kimport of Boalsburg.

The day passed most enjoyably and will be long remembered by those so fortunate as to be present.

"Miss Bob White" is Headed This Way.

The theatrical public, during the past few years has been educated up to a standard of magnitude in theatrical attractions that require a great deal of money on the part of managers and to win success in these times, dramatic productions must possess not only plot, merit and strength, but scenic equipment of real worth. An operatic production not only takes merit and comedy but lavish scenic environment and a wealth of costumes.

Nixon & Zimmerman, the well known syndicate magnates, well known as the foremost producers in this line have certainly met these demands in a most painstaking manner and with their dozen companies—"Willard Spenser's "Miss Bob White," Fay Templeton in "The Runaway," "A Chinese Honeymoon," Paula Edwards in "Winsome Winnie," Irene Bentley in "The Girl From Dixie," Mabel Gilman and her English company in "Dolly Varden" the Gorman sensation "The Sweetest Girl," Francis Wilson and his all-star cast in a sumptuous revival of "Erminie," Jeff De Angelis in "The Toreador" and others have certainly suited public favor out and out with all their attractions which have proven record-breakers in point of big business and "Miss Bob White" the delightful Spenser Opera which is booked for early presentation here, certainly heads the list in each and every point of merit.

SPARTAN'S LOVE OF HOME.

With a Broken Back, He Started For His Grecian Home.

Peter Prettis, a Greek who has been employed with a construction crew on the Santa Fe railway, was placed on a cot at the Union depot in Kansas City, Mo., the other night and, in charge of his brother, started for Sparta, Greece. The man's back was broken. About a month ago he was injured by a hand car near Olivette, Kan. He was taken to the hospital at Ottawa and afterward brought to St. Joseph's hospital in Kansas City, says the Kansas City Times.

Prettis had been in the United States about a year. After his back had been broken by the hand car and he lay in the hospital, unable to move his legs, a desire to be back in his native land came over him. The Santa Fe railroad gave him about $1,000, and with this sum he started toward home. His brother Will, who went on the long journey with him, said they had a little property back in Greece, and with what they had saved while at work the injured man would have plenty to support him for the rest of his life. The injured man has a wife and baby waiting for him in Sparta.

SOMNAMBULIST'S EXPLOIT.

Boy Asleep Climbed a Cocoanut Palm In Hawaii.

A peculiar case of somnambulism was recently reported from Hanalei, on the island of Kauai, one of the Hawaiian Islands, says a San Francisco special to the St. Louis Republic.

William Williams, aged twelve years, disappeared from his home one morning. When he did not return for breakfast nor late in the forenoon his parents became anxious, and search was made for him. After some time a native found him lying in the shadow of a great bowlder in a place difficult of access. When the native saw him he gave a shout partly to announce to the other searchers that the boy was found and also to awaken the boy, who seemed fast asleep. The shout awoke the boy suddenly, and, seeing the native's black eyes staring at him, as he afterward explained, he thought a wild pig, many of which are found in the region, was about to attack him.

To escape the boy climbed a tall cocoanut tree growing a hundred yards away. As he did not respond nor come down when called to the native climbed up after him, but was kept at bay by the boy with a twelve inch knife. Finally his father came and spoke to him, and then he came down, still in a dazed condition. He did not fully recover consciousness until he had been taken home and put to bed. He then had but a dim consciousness of his experience.

All the circumstances indicate that he rose from bed early in the morning, put on his working clothes, took three books under his arm and a long knife used in cutting ferns and started for the woods, where he cut a quantity of ferns and carried them to where he was found by the native. When startled by the shout of the latter he still kept his books under his arm and his knife in his hand and climbed the cocoanut palm to the top, a distance of forty or fifty feet, a difficult feat to perform even to the natives with their hands free.

The boy was never known to walk in his sleep before, but is supposed to have been suffering from nervousness following an attack of fever. One of the most surprising features of the incident is that the boy had never climbed a cocoanut palm before.

A SWEETHEARTS' PARLOR.

Innovation Planned by Cincinnati Pastor For Young Lovers.

A "sweethearts' parlor" is one of the innovations that Rev. James O. White intends to introduce into his work, recently begun in Cincinnati. Rev. White reached Cincinnati from Trimountain, Mich., a few days ago and took up his duties as the superintendent of the Union bethel, on the public landing, says the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Speaking of his new charge and of changes and improvements he contemplates, Rev. White said:

"Now, there are many homes in this vicinity in which there are daughters who are of an age when they begin to seek the society of young men. In many instances they cannot invite their young sweethearts to their homes, as in some cases the homes furnish no suitable accommodations for entertainment. This forces these girls to meet the young men on the street corners, and the associations sometimes result disastrously. I want to give these young women the home accommodations that their parents cannot give and am going to fit up our parlors here at the bethel and throw them open as a trysting place for these young lovers. They will be made welcome here as often as they see fit to entertain their friends, and I believe the influence for good will be great."

Rev. White will also organize a movement by which the home life of all within his jurisdiction will be looked after by himself or Mrs. White, who has been appointed assistant superintendent.
